Android studio universal adb driver

If you are developing in Windows and want to connect a device for testing, you need to install the appropriate USB drive. This page provides links to the websites of several original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) where you can download the appropriate USB drive for your device. If you are developing on Mac OS X or Linux, you should not need a USB drive. Read using Hardware Devices instead. To connect and debug any of the Google Nexus devices that use Windows, you need to install the Google USB drive. First install a USB drive, find the appropriate driver for your device from the OEM drivers table below. After downloading your USB drive, follow these instructions to install or upgrade the drive, depending on your version of Windows and whether you installed it for the first time, or whether you upgraded an existing drive. Then, for other important information about using an Android device for development, see Using Hardware Devices. Caution: You can make changes to the android_winusb.inf file in usb_driver\ (for example, to add support for other devices), but this causes security warnings when you install or upgrade the driver. Making other changes to driver files may disrupt the installation process. To install the Windows 10 Android USB drive on Windows 10 for the first time, do the following: Connect your Android device to your computer's USB port. From Windows Explorer, open Computer Management. In the Computer Management left pane, select Device Manager. In the Device Manager right pane, find and expand Portable Devices or Other Devices, depending on which one you see. Right-click the name of the device you are connecting to, and then choose Update Driver Software. In the Hardware Update wizard, select Browse to my computer for driver software, and then click Next. Click Browse, and then find the USB drive folder. For example, the Google USB Drive android_sdk\extras\google\usb_driver\. Click Next to install the driver. To install the Windows 8.1 Android USB drive on Windows 8.1 for the first time, do the following: Connect your Android device to your computer's USB port. The access search is as follows: Touchscreen: On your computer, swipe in from the right edge of the screen and tap Search. Use a mouse: Point to the lower-right corner of the screen, move the mouse pointer up, and then click Search. In the search box, type Device Manager, and then click Device Manager. Double-click the device category, and then double-click the device you want. Click the Driver tab, click Update Driver, and then follow the instructions. To install the Windows 7 Android USB drive on Windows 7 for the first time, do the following: Connect your Android device to your computer's USB port. Right-click Pc from your desktop or Windows Explorer, and choose Manage. Devices in the left pane Find and expand the other device in the right pane. Right-click the device name (such as Nexus S) and choose Update Driver Software. It's going to happen. Hardware Update Wizard. For driver software, select Browse to my computer, and then click Next. Click Browse, and then find the USB drive folder. (Google USB Drive android_sdk\extras\google\usb_driver\.) Click Next to install the driver. Or, to upgrade an existing Android USB drive on Windows 7 and above with the new driver: Connect your Android device to your computer's USB port. Right-click Pc from your desktop or Windows Explorer, and choose Manage. In the left pane of the Computer Management window, select Device Manager. Find and expand Android Phone in the right pane. Right-click the Android Composite ADB Interface and choose Update Driver. This will start the Hardware Update Wizard. Select Install from a list or a specific location, and then click Next. Choose Search for the best driver in these locations; uncheck Removable media search; and mark Add this location in search. Click Browse, and then find the USB drive folder. (Google USB Drive android_sdk\extras\google\usb_driver\.) Click Next to upgrade the drive. Get OEM drivers If you don't see a link here for the manufacturer of your device, go to the support section of the manufacturer's website and search for USB drive downloads for your device. Before downloading, you must agree to the following terms and conditions. This Android Software Development Kit License Agreement 1.1 Android Software Development Kit (specifically known as the SDK in the License Agreement, and especially Android system files, packaged APIs, and Google APIs) is licensed to you subject to the terms of the License Agreement. The License Agreement creates a legally binding agreement between you and Google regarding your use of the SDK. 1.2 Android means the stack of Android software offered as part of the android open source project and offered under the Android Open Source Project located at the following URL: as updated from time to time. 1.3 A compatible app means (i) any Android device on the Android compatibility website (that fits the Android Compatibility Definition document, which can be updated from time to time; and (ii) successfully pass the Android Compatibility Test Suite (CTS). 1.4 Google means Google LLC, which operates under the laws of the U.S. State of Delaware and operates under U.S. law, the main workplace in the United States, 1600 Amphitheatre Parkway,

Mountain View, CA 94043. 2.1 In order to use the SDK, you must first accept the License Agreement. If you do not accept the License Agreement, you will not be able to use the SDK. 2.2 By clicking to accept and/or use this SDK, you agree to the terms of the License Agreement. 2.3 You may not use the SDK, and if you are a person who is prohibited from receiving the SDK under the laws of the United States or other countries, you may residence or use the SDK. 2.4 If you agree to be bound by the License Agreement on behalf of your employer or other legal entity, you declare and warrant that you have full legal authority to link your employer or such legal entity to the License Agreement. If you do not have the necessary authority, you may not be able to accept the License Agreement or use the SDK on behalf of your employer or other legal entity. 3.1 Subject to the terms of the License Agreement, Google licenses you to use the SDK only to develop apps for Android's compatible apps, without a limited, worldwide, royalty-free, non-transferable, non-exclusive, and non-sub-license. 3.2 You cannot use this SDK to develop apps for other platforms (including Android's incompatible apps) or to develop another SDK. Provided that this SDK is not used for this purpose, you are of course free to develop apps for other platforms, including Android's incompatible apps. 3.3 You agree that Google or third parties have all legal rights, title and interests in the SDK and the SDK, including intellectual property rights under the SDK. Intellectual Property Rights means all rights under patent law, copyright law, trade secret law, trademark law and all other propriety rights. Google reserves all rights not explicitly given to you. 3.4 You may not use the SDK for any purpose that is not explicitly permitted in the License Agreement. It may not copy, adapt, reder, compile, reverse engineer, disassemble, or create derivative works of the SDK or any part of the SDK, except as required by the relevant third-party licenses. 3.5 The use, reproduction and distribution of SDK components licensed under an open source software license is subject only to the terms of the open source software license, not to the License Agreement. 3.6 You agree that the shape and nature of the SDK provided by Google may change without notice to you, and that future versions of the SDK may be incompatible with apps developed in earlier versions of the SDK. You agree that Google may (permanently or temporarily) stop providing the SDK (or all features within the SDK) to you or, in general, to users at Google's discretion, without notice. 3.7 Nothing in the License Agreement gives you the right to use Google's trade names, trademarks, service brands, logos, domain names, or other distinctive brand features. 3.8 You agree not to remove, hide or modify any propriety notices (including copyright and trademark notices) affixed to or contained within the SDK. 4.1 Google, including intellectual property rights in or in software applications you develop using the SDK It agrees that it has not obtained any rights, titles or interest from you (or your licensing) under the License Agreement. that's what it's worth You agree to use the SDK and use the applications only for the purposes permitted by (a) the License Agreement and (b) any laws, regulations, or generally accepted practices or directives applicable in the relevant jurisdictions (including laws on the export of data or software to the United States or other relevant countries). 4.3 If you use the SDK to develop apps for general public users, you may agree that you will protect their privacy and legal rights. If users provide you with usernames, passwords, or other login information or personal information, users should realize that this information will be available to your app, and you must provide legally adequate privacy statements and protections for those users. If your app stores personal or sensitive information provided by users, it should do so securely. If a user provides Google Account information to your app, your app can only use it to access the user's Google Account for limited purposes that the user allows you to. 4.4 You agree to engage in any activity with the SDK, including but not limited to Google or any mobile carrier, including, but not limited to, the development or distribution of an application that unauthorizedly interferes with, disrupts, damages or accesses any third party's servers, networks or other features or services. 4.5 You agree that you are not responsible only to you or any third party (and Google has no liability to you or any third party) to the data, content or sources you create, convey or view through the Android and/or Android apps, and by doing so, the consequences of your actions (including any loss or damage that Google may suffer). 4.6 You agree that your obligations under the License Agreement, your applicable third-party agreement or Terms of Service, or any applicable law or regulation, and any such violations (including any loss or damages that Google or any third party may suffer) have no liability only to you or any third party. 5.1 You agree that you are responsible for protecting the confidentiality of all developer credentials that may be provided to you by Google or that you can choose yourself from, and that only you will be responsible for all applications developed under your developer credentials. 6.1 To continuously innovate and improve the SDK, Google may collect certain usage statistics from the software, including but not limited to a unique identifier, associated IP address, version number of the software, and information about which tools and/or services are used and how the tools and/or services in the SDK are used. This Before any of them are collected, the SDK will notify you and ask for your permission. If you have permission, the information 6.2 The collected data is reviewed in bulk to improve the SDK and protected in accordance with Google's Privacy Policy. 6.3 Anonymized and merged datasets to develop the SDK may be shared with Google partners. 7.1 If you use the SDK to run applications developed by a third party, or if you access data, content, or resources provided by a third party, you agree that Google is not responsible for those apps, data, content, or sources. You agree that Google is not responsible for any loss or damage you may inspo have as a result of the use or access of these third-party applications, data, content or resources of all data, content or resources that you may access through such third-party applications. 7.2 You should know that the data, content and resources provided to you through such a third-party application may be protected by intellectual property rights owned by providers (or other persons or companies on their behalf). You may not modify, rent, rent, lend, sell, distribute or create derivative works based on this data, content or resources (in part or in part) unless specifically permitted by the respective owners. 7.3 You agree that your use of such third-party applications, data, content or resources may be subject to separate terms between you and the relevant third party. In this case, the License Agreement does not affect your legal relationship with these third parties. 8.1 Google Data APIs 8.1.1 If you use any API to obtain data from Google, you agree that the data may be protected by google or the intellectual property rights it has to Google or the parties that provide the data (or other persons or companies on their behalf). Your use of such APIs may be subject to additional Terms of Service. It may not modify, rent, rent, lend, sell, distribute or create derivative works based on this data (in part or in part) as permitted by the Relevant Terms of Service. 8.1.2 If you use any API to obtain a user's data from Google, you agree and accept the data only with the user's clear consent and only for limited purposes permitted by the user and only for this purpose. If you use the Android Recognition Service API documented in the following URL: as updated from time to time, you agree that API usage is subject to the Data Processing App for Products where Google is the data processor: as updated from time to time. By clicking to accept it, you agree to the terms of the Data Processing Attachment for Products for which Google is a Data Processor. 9.1 License Agreement, either by you or Google as mentioned below. 9.2 If you want to terminate the License Agreement, you can do so by stopping your use of the SDK and related developer credentials. 9.3 Google may terminate the License Agreement with you at any time if you have violated any provision of the Following (A) License Agreement; or (B) Google is required by law to do so; or (C) Google's partner, in which Google offers you certain parts of the SDK (such as APIs), has ended its relationship with Google or stopped offering you certain parts of the SDK; or (D) Google decides not to make the SDK or certain parts of the SDK available to users in the country where you no longer reside or use the service, or the provision of SDK or some SDK services to you by Google is no longer commercially applicable at Google's discretion. 9.4 When the License Agreement expires, all legal rights, obligations and obligations that you and Google enjoy, are subject to (or accrue over time while the License Agreement is in force) or expressed to continue indefinitely shall not be affected and paragraph 14.7 provisions shall continue to apply to these rights. , obligations and obligations indefinitely. 10.1 CLEARLY UNDERSTAND AND AGREE THAT USING THE SDK IS AT ONLY ONE RISK AND THAT THE SDK IS PROVIDED AS AND PRESENT AS IT IS WITHOUT ANY WARRANTY FROM GOOGLE. 10.2 ANY MATERIAL DOWNLOADED OR OTHERWISE OBTAINED THROUGH THE Use of the SDK AND THE Use OF the SDK IS AT YOUR DISCRETION AND RISK, AND YOU ARE THE ONLY PERSON RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY DAMAGE OR LOSS OF DATA TO YOUR COMPUTER SYSTEM OR OTHER DEVICE RESULTING FROM THIS USE. 10.3 GOOGLE ALSO PUBLICLY REJECTS ANY WARRANTIES AND CONDITIONS, WHETHER EXPLICIT OR INFRINGING, INCLUDING BUT NOT LIMITED TO THE INFRINGEING OF THE WARRANTIES AND CONDITIONS OF THE SALE, FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PARTICULAR REASON AND NON-INFRINGE. 11.1 You expressly understand and agree that GOOGLE, its affiliates and Affiliates AND LICENSAING WILL NOT BE RESPONSIBLE TO YOU FOR ANY DIRECT, Indirect, Incidental, PRIVATE, CONSEQUISTED or EXEMPLARY DAMAGES THAT YOU MAY CAUSE, INCLUDING whether Google or ITS REPRESENTATIVES HAVE BEEN NOTIFIED OF SUCH Losses OR ARE INFORMED THAT SUCH Losses MAY OCCUR. 12.1 To the maximum extent permitted by law, (a) You agree to defend, incur and incur any claims, actions, lawsuits or agencies of Google, its affiliates and related executives, affiliates, employees and agents against any rights, liabilities, damages, expenses and expenses arising out of or accrued by your use of the SDK (including reasonable attorneys' fees). , (b) any copyright, trademark, trade secret, trade dress, patent you have developed in the SDK any application that violates other intellectual property rights it blacks any person or violates their right to publicity or privacy, and (c) your non-compliance with the License Agreement. 13.1 Google may make changes to the License Agreement when distributing new versions of the SDK. When these changes are made, Google will make a new version of the License Agreement available on the website where the SDK is available. 14.1 The License Agreement creates the entire legal agreement between you and Google and governs your use of the SDK (except for services that Google may offer you under a separate written agreement) and completely replaces previous agreements between you and Google in connection with the SDK. 14.2 You agree that if Google does not apply or implement any legal right or remedy contained in the License Agreement (or which Google enjoys under any applicable law), Google's rights are formally waived and these rights or remedies will continue to be available to Google. 14.3 If any court with the authority to decide on this issue decides that any provision of the License Agreement is invalid, that provision shall be removed from the License Agreement without affecting the remainder of the License Agreement. The remaining provisions of the License Agreement shall remain valid and enforceable. 14.4 You agree and agree that each member of google's group of companies will be third-party beneficiaries of the License Agreement and that such companies will have the right to directly implement and rely on any provision of the License Agreement that benefits (or favors) them. Other than that, no other person or company can have third-party beneficiaries of the License Agreement. 14.5 EXPORT RESTRICTIONS. The SDK IS SUBJECT TO U.S. EXPORT LAWS AND REGULATIONS. YOU MUST COMPLY WITH ALL DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL EXPORT LAWS AND REGULATIONS APPLIED TO THE SDK. THESE LAWS INCLUDE FOOD, END USE AND END USE RESTRICTIONS. 14.6 The rights granted in the License Agreement may not be transferred or transferred by you or Google without the previous written consent of the other party. Neither you nor Google will be permitted to transfer their responsibilities or obligations under the License Agreement without the previous written consent of the other party. 14.7 Your relationship with Google under the License Agreement and License Agreement shall be subject to the laws of the State of California, regardless of the provisions of the law. You and Google agree to be subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of courts located in the state of Santa Clara, California, to resolve any legal issue arising from the License Agreement. However, you agree that Google cannot be allowed to apply for injunctions (or equivalent emergency legal aid) in any jurisdiction. January 16, 2019
